IELTS Test Preparation

Our IELTS Preparation courses are for people with a good level of English who want to make further progress in the language whilst preparing for the IELTS test for work, study or immigration.

At Burlington School, we have been preparing our students for the IELTS test for many years, and we have an in-depth knowledge of needs of candidates and the demands of the test. Our IELTS Preparation course is designed to meet these needs.

We believe there are three main areas that students should work on when preparing for any test: overall language improvement, specific exam-related language improvement (including the grammar and vocabulary that the exam focuses on as well as study skills and exam skills), and authentic exam practice.

The classes have an integrated approach to the IELTS test and include work on language and skills, including grammar, vocabulary, pronunciation, speaking, listening, reading and writing.

Students can add to these lessons in the elective classes. These classes build on the work covered in the main classes, focussing on specific sections of the test as well as overall fluency.
